Costello pays visit to area

Budget surplus, health care top list of concerns

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

The federal government's anticipated budget surplus and health care reform

PONTOON BEACH were two of the main topics of discussion at a series of informal meetings by 12th District U.S.
Rep. Jerry Costello (D-Belleville).

On Tuesday, Costello met with constituents in Wood River, Pontoon Beach and Venice.

"We are holding office hours in various communities around the district," Costello said while at the Pontoon Beach Village Hall late Tuesday morning. "Yesterday, we were in Monroe and Randolph counties, today
we're in Madison County, tomorrow we'll be in St. Clair and Madison County again.

"We had a large turnout in Wood River this morning - we had 75 to 100 people. We've had a nice turnout here in Pontoon Beach."

While many of the people he is talking to want help in dealing with Social Security, the Veterans' Administration and similar government agencies, tax cuts and health reform are the biggest legislative issues.

"Basically, what we're hearing from people is that on the issue of tax cuts and the surplus, they are saying don't give us tax cuts," Costello said. "Use any surplus we have, apply it to Social Security, Medicare, including prescription drugs, and apply whatever you have left over to the national debt."

"That is the general theme we've heard all the way from Red Bud to Waterloo to Wood

Classes resumed Tuesday morning for about 8,300 students in the Granite City School District.

Many youngsters resembled Ken and Barbie dolls as they were decked out in a variety of new shoes, shirts, jeans, backpacks and hair styles.

"The kids just looked super," said Clabbe Briggs, principal of Maryville Elementary School.

Granite council debates Maryville Road rezoning

By Michael Heil
Staff writer

The Granite City Council meeting had the flavor of a lively courtroom setting Tuesday

GRANITE CITY evening as about 60 people concerned over rezoning of parcels of land on the north end of town attended.

Nine spoke before the council, voicing their displeasure.
"We really don't want multiple housing in our back-

Residents speak against issue; two requests rejected yards," exclaimed Michael Reed, who resides in the 3400 block of Maryville Road.

Jeff Reiter, who owns a home in the 3500 block of Maryville Road, voiced his opinion as well.
"You're talking about prime property," Reiter said. "As leaders of our community, I hope you voice your opinion in front of us."

Reed, Reiter and the others were concerned about the rezoning of a 4.34-acre tract along Maryville Road, a 5.97-acre tract of Buenger Boulevard and Village Lane and a 1.17-acre tract south of and adjacent to Irwin Chapel.

Meridian Land Company would have liked to had seen the 4.34-acre tract change from residential to C-4 commercial and the 5.97-acre tract change from residential to R-5 residential.

The Planning and Zoning Commission denied Meridian's rezoning petition of those parcels before the council meeting, but not the 1.17-acre tract.

If the tract was changed from residential to to C-1 commercial, a bank would be constructed on the site.

The aldermen discussed the 1.17-acre tract, deferring any action on it until next

Tuesday's meeting.
Dawn Naney, who lives in the 2500 block of Buenger, said she was happy to see the council reconsider rezoning the tract.

"I'm glad what they've done so far," Naney said. "I hope next week they take into consideration how their decision will affect people living in the area. And I'm glad what Kim said."

Naney was referring to Seventh Ward Alderman Kim McTaggart, who asked the council to pass a resolution so that no one who develops land east of Maryville Road will have to construct a storm sewer from the place of development to the Nameoki drainage ditch to alleviate drainage problems in the area.
The next council meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday at the council chambers, located at Granite City Hall in downtown Granite City.

Elderly Pontoon Beach man killed in auto crash

Small car darted out in front of truck, reports indicate

By Michael Heil
Staff writer

PONTOON BEACH An elderly Pontoon Beach man died Tuesday afternoon from injuries he sustained

after the car he was driving collided with a truck along Illinois Route 162.

Julius Horvath Sr., 85, was pronounced dead at 4:03 p.m.
Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City from massive chest injuries, said Madison County Coroner Dallas Burke.

The wreck occurred about 3:15 p.m. along Illinois 162 and the corner of Eldorado Lane in Pontoon Beach.

The truck driver, who is employed by Mike Maedge Trucking of Highland, was driving west on Illinois 162 when Horvath darted in front of him from the corner of Eldorado.

"He came. I couldn't avoid him," said the driver, who was trying to fight back his emotions.

The 1986 Chevrolet Chevette struck the truck on the driver's side, which was pushed in like an accordion.

The truck received minor damage, skidding into shrubbery in the yard of the Linkeman family near the crash scene. Dennis Linkeman said his wife called 911 moments after the wreck.

Long Lake Fire Department EMTs arrived on the scene about 3:18 p.m.
Emergency personnel had to extricate Horvath before he was rushed to SEMC.

Linkeman, who saw the man yelling for his life through his window, said the scene was horrific.

"I saw him trapped in the car, just screaming for help," Linkeman said. "It was so bad, I'd rather not comment about it any more."

no charges have been filed.

Republican leaders show their support for Bush's campaign

By Diane Ross
Statehouse News Service

There wasn't a real Republican Day at the Illinois State Fair last week, and there won't be a real Republican primary election in Illinois next March. There's no need. At least, that's the impression gathered from a few days ago, when Texas Gov. George W. Bush stopped by the Statehouse, on his way to winning the Iowa straw poll for Republican presidential hopefuls, to scoop up the endorsements of most of Illinois' elected Republicans.

Most of Illinois' big elephants were on parade that day in Springfield. They lined up trunk-to-tail behind the second-generation politician that Fort Worth Star-Telegram columnist Molly Ivins loves to call Bush the Younger. Little George, Dubya and the Shrub. No less than three Illinois governors were on the stage: former chief executives Jim Thompson, Jim Edgar and current chief executive George Ryan. The only big trunks missing were some of Illinois' top Congressmen: U.S. House Speaker Dennis Hastert of Yorkville, and freshman U.S. Peter Fitzgerald of Inverness.

But Bush is only the first of Illinois' top Congressmen: U.S. House Speaker Dennis Hastert of Yorkville, and freshman U.S. Peter Fitzgerald of Inverness. But Bush is only the first of Illinois' top Congressmen: U.S. House Speaker Dennis Hastert of Yorkville, and freshman U.S. Peter Fitzgerald of Inverness. But Bush is only the first of Illinois' top Congressmen: U.S. House Speaker Dennis Hastert of Yorkville, and freshman U.S. Peter Fitzgerald of Inverness.

Then came a chunk of the Illinois General Assembly. Senate Assistant Majority Leader John Maitland of Bloomington, subbing for Sen. President James "Pat" Philip of Wood Dale, read the names of the 24 Bush supporters among the 32 GOP in the 59-member Republican-controlled Senate. House Republican Leader Lee Daniels of Elmhurst read the names of the 48 Bush supporters among the 56 Republicans in the 118-member Democrat-controlled House.

And here's something you should have seen. The couple of dozen legislators on hand had been waiting at the top of the marble stairs behind the portable stage. As their names were read they walked down the stair, lined up across the stairs and, once assembled, waved Bush placards in unison. It looked like a bad production number from a local beauty pageant. The only thing missing was Bert Parks singing the campaign hymn of the Republican.

Then came George Ryan's fellow statewide officers: Attorney General Jim Ryan spoke. Lieutenant Gov. Corrine Wood did not. Treasurer Judy Baar Topinka was out of town. Secretary of State Jesse White and Comptroller Dan Hynes didn't count; they're Democrats. Next were Thompson and Edgar, who scored some of the strongest applause of the day without opening their mouths.

At last, accompanied by Illinois' First Lady Laura Lynn Ryan, George Ryan's wife, endorsed Bush, and finally Bush appeared. He opened with a lame joke about how he and the diminutive Laura Lynn had both married "above" themselves, before he got into his standard conservative-mind-compassionate-heart speech.

With the endorsement collected, the speech made and the crowd quickly dispersing, Bush started shaking hands with party leaders and moving toward reporters, who by then had been cordoned off a few feet away for a news conference. We reporters duly questioned Bush on the federal budget surplus, gun control and the national farm economy, but we also wanted his take on a couple of Illinois issues, like the federal-state battle royal over the proposed third Chicago airport in Peotone. We didn't get it. Ryan said he had yet to mention Peotone to Bush. Doesn't anybody brief anybody anymore?

Democrat staffers taking notes at the Bush rally knew that night's closed-door session with Ryan, Edgar, Thompson and the other Republicans would be far more substantive. Still, the Democrats must have gotten a good laugh at that one Republican gaffe. Daniels characterized Bush as a uniter not a divider. Jim Ryan lauded Bush's "vision of inclusion." George Ryan praised Bush's bipartisan tack with the Texas legislature. U.S. Rep. Tom Ewing of Pontiac apparently was out of the loop. Republicans in Washington, Edging enthusiastically told the crowd, "have totally shut the Democrats up." There was no applause.

Back to school requires involvement

By Richard W. Riley

Back-to-school time has always been exciting for children. It's a time to meet new friends, new teachers, and resume the adventure of learning.

But back-to-school time is not just for kids anymore. If our schools are going to do the job we expect them to do, everyone must pitch in and help. That includes parents and everyone in the community.

The fact is, schools today can't do the job alone. There are more children in our schools this fall than ever before, more, even, than at the height of the baby boom.

There is more diversity. In some schools, students come from dozens of nations. We are living in the Information Age, a time when our nation's economy and security depend more on the quality of education than at any other time in our history. That's why more and more states and communities are requiring students and teachers to reach for high standards of learning, and why the public is demanding real results for its tax dollars.

So, I encourage every parent, family, and citizen to use this back-to-school season to make a personal commitment to supporting better education in their community. When children are surrounded by adults and communities that value education, they get the message that their education is important. And they're more likely to buckle down and do their best. When children see that adults and communities don't care about education, they get the opposite message, and we all lose.

To spread the message about the importance of family and community involvement in education, the U.S. Department of Education conducts a national initiative each year called "America Goes Back to School." We hold events all around the nation to stir excitement for the new school season.

This year, I'm personally taking a five-state bus tour to spread the message. I'll be traveling through Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, and North Carolina. If you pass me on the highway, be sure to wave. I'll also be visiting communities in the East, West, and Midwest.

We've also prepared a colorful, fact-filled "America Goes Back to School" kit, which provides plenty of good ideas for getting involved in your schools and staying involved all year long. It's called, "Challenge Our Students and They Will Soar," and you can get a free kit by simply calling the U.S. Department of Education at 1-800-USA-LEARN, or by visiting our web site at www.ed.gov/Family/agbts.

Here are a few ideas that can get you started:

Parents: Try to slow down your lives and help your children grow. Spend at least 30 minutes a day supervising your children's education. Start early and read to your youngest children. Share books with your older children. Keep in touch with teachers. Make sure your children are doing their homework. Keep TV watching to a minimum. And talk with your children frankly about drugs and violence and the values you want them to have.

Educators, community leaders and law enforcement officials: Many communities are holding town meetings with mental health professionals to talk about troubled youths and school violence. Think about holding one in your community. Talk about ways to help troubled youths and find ways to connect each young person to at least one caring adult. Every child should feel that he or she is the most important person in an adult's life. Creating connections and a caring environment in the home, at school, and in the community is an important part of preventing violence and working with others in your community to develop quality after-school and summer programs. Isn't it better to have children in school where they can continue learning, rather than being at home alone, or going to the mall to play violent video games?

Students: Challenge yourselves! Take the tough courses in middle and high school that will put you on the road to college and careers. Take algebra in eighth grade, geometry in high school. Take four years of a foreign language, and an Advanced Placement art, music, English, or history course. Explore tech prep and other career courses. Studies show that students who take academically challenging high school courses are more likely to attend and complete college and earn more in the work world, regardless of their family's financial status, race, or gender.

Elementary school students should focus on reading, reading, and reading, and math, too. Develop three basic skills.

And no child should be promoted to a grade they're not ready for. Let's get rid of social promotion. If some children aren't making the grade, give them the extra help they need, either after school or over the weekends and summers.

No one stands taller than when they stoop down to help a child. Get involved with your community's young people, and you will stand taller and feel taller than you ever have. Back-to-school time is the perfect time to start.

Richard W. Riley is the U.S. Secretary of Education.

County Board approves new review board member

Only one dissenting vote heard as Powers takes seat

By Curtiss A. Hartley
Staff Writer

A vacancy on the Madison County Board of Review at the beginning of their busiest season forced the County Board into special session Tuesday morning. The board used the session to appoint Bessie Powers of Bethalto to the empty seat.

County Board Chairman Rudy Papa nominated Powers, saying that she is a "people person who will be glad to listen to people. She's a fair-minded person, and that's very important."

The board voted 23-1 to approve the recommendation. Judy Kuhn, R-Highland, was the sole "no" vote.

Susan Henke, a member of the Board of Review for the past eight years, turned in her resignation to Papa the first week of August. Henke had just been re-appointed to a fifth two-year term in June.

The three-member Board of Review is the panel that meets with county citizens who have a complaint about their property tax assessment. Kerry Miller of Alton and Anne Hudson of Glen Carbon are the other two members of the Board of Review. Miller chairs that board.

Miller said it was important

"I decided it never hurts to try, and I'm always open to new ventures. I felt my background was beneficial to the job."

Bessie Powers
New Madison County Board of Review member to fill the vacant seat on the board as quickly as possible. "The (County) Board was kind enough to call this special meeting so we have a full team going into the busy season," Miller said.

Miller said the county usually has between 1,000 and 1,200 tax assessment complaints filed each year. Miller said if they would have waited until the next regularly scheduled County Board meeting to fill the vacancy, the new member would have come on board right in the midst of the hearing processes and would have had no chance to learn the system for the hearings and appeals.

By state statute, the review board is supposed to have all hearings about assessment complaints completed by Sept. 10, Miller said. He said that would have been difficult with only two members on the review board.

Powers said she threw her hat into the ring when she heard about the vacancy on the Board of Review.

"I decided it never hurts to try, and I'm always open to new ventures," she said. "I felt my background was beneficial to the job."

Powers has worked in the real estate industry since 1987. She got her realtor's license in 1991, she said. Before that, she worked for 14 years for CTE in Jacksonville, where she was a customer service representative.

"If there's a story, I've heard it," Powers said. The negative vote for Powers to fill the vacancy came from County Board member Judy Kuhn, R-Highland. Kuhn said it had nothing to do with Powers.

"I don't know her personally," Kuhn said. "But there was another young man from Highland who was eligible. Our district was supporting him."

"We would like more representation from our district," Dan Stieb, from Highland, was Kuhn's choice for the review board's vacancy. The other two were Brad Meyers and Paula Brooks.

SEMC executive travels around world addressing health issues

Lepping slated to visit Singapore for conference next year

By Michael Heil
Staff writer

Jinny Lepping has the opportunity to travel as part of her job as executive vice president of Providence Occupational Health Services, which is an affiliate of St. Elizabeth's Medical Center.

She winged her way to China in March as a consultant to Beijing Broadcast Institute and to Beijing Medical University.

At the institutions, she consulted with health care professionals on work-related injuries, hazardous exposure, drug screening and case management.

"The Ministry of Health is acutely aware of environmental, occupational health and safety challenges facing China in the global economy," Lepping said.

"A big hurdle will be upgrading nursing education throughout the country to address those needs."

Lepping's experience with international occupational health issues began in the 1980s. She was one of four nurses in 1987 selected from the nation to travel to Australia to present a program which focuses on controlling costs and helping injured workers retain their confidence and abilities.

In addition, she traveled to Vietnam in 1994 as a member of the International Commission on Occupational Health and the Scientific Committee on Developing Countries to help coordinate a physical exchange program.

Lepping recently received a grant from the American Board for Occupational Health Nurses to research the advancement of occupational health nursing globally, and to identify the most effective role for the Scientific Committee on Occupational Health Nursing (ICOH).

She will present the findings at the 28th ICOH Congress in Singapore next year.

Providence Occupational Health Services provides comprehensive health services, including employee assistance programs, to more than 300 businesses and industries. It has become a highly specialized field, providing a viable international network.

New system allows direct tie for registering crime guns

Gun-toting criminals have another worry. Illinois State Police can now link directly to the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms national computer to register crime guns.

A measure introduced in February 1998 by U.S. Sen. Dick Durbin and the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms makes it easier to track gun trafficking.

"We would like to use Illinois as an example for other states to follow," said Chris Widmayer in Durbin's office. "We would like to be the first state to achieve voluntary universal compliance of gun tracing."

The Illinois State Rifle Association added its support to the initiative last week, as did the Naperville Police Department.

"The Illinois State Rifle Association has hit the target with its endorsement of universal crime gun tracing," Durbin said. "I thank the association for finally joining me in the fight to catch gun traffickers and straw purchasers."

Since the beginning of the program, there has been a 300 percent increase in the number of crime guns traced. In the first 6 months of 1998, a total of 5,885 guns were traced. For the same period in 1999, the total was 15,506.

McKendree enrollment tops capacity

650 students now living on campus at college in Lebanon

By April Calvin
Staff writer

McKendree College in Lebanon greets 250 freshmen this fall. With about 650 students living on campus, the college is at 140 percent capacity. Some 2,000 students attend the college.

According to college personnel, this year's incoming class is an unusually strong one, academically. Among the new students are 18 valedictorians. The average ACT score for the freshman class is 24, and the grade point average is 3.7.

"We're being recognized as a strong academic school," said Sue Cordon, dean of admissions.

"Offering higher education since 1828, this year McKendree welcomes its 175th class.

"This year nine new faculty members join the staff. And a marching band is in the works for the first time, under the watchful eye of Dave Boggs, McKendree's new band director."

"Freshmen posed for a group photo, an unusual enough activity for a college class, but indicative of the small and friendly atmosphere larger institutions cannot offer."

"We consider one another family," said Kim Lobring, public relations director for the college.

"I was just impressed with the personal touch," said Rick Niedoborski, whose daughter is attending McKendree this fall. "It felt very comfortable."

The student population has changed in recent years. From about 60 percent commuters until recently, the student body is now about 60 percent residential. Almost 80 percent of this year's freshmen will live on campus.

"We came from a small school, so we'd like to go to a small school," said Melissa Smith. She and her twin, both valedictorians, chose McKendree to pursue their higher education goals.

"We like the one-on-one," said sister Amy Smith.

A $4.5 million building, the Marion K. Piper Academic Center, is due to be completed in December of this year. The building is funded by an alumnus donation, and will house classrooms, faculty offices and the admissions center.

Fall Home & Garden Guide

Insulation is home improvement that keeps on saving

The costs of keeping up a home seem to rise every year and homeowners find themselves putting off ski weekends and tropical vacations in order to meet expenses. But there is a money-saving measure all homeowners can take that makes those sacrifices unnecessary: insulation.

"How can you tell if your home is leaking energy dollars? With winter just around the corner, now is the perfect time to assess your home's insulation and make sure that the money you're spending on heating (and, in summer, on cooling) literally isn't going out the window.

"Air infiltration, the process through which costly energy leaks occur, can happen in numerous places in the average home: between eaves, under thresholds, between baseboards, under exhaust ducts, around chimneys, under and on top of loose siding, and between corner joints and flashings, to name just a few.

"So, it is especially important to check carefully for those places where wasteful energy leakage may be occurring and, before winter's winds begin to howl, make sure they are sealed effectively in order to prevent unnecessary heat loss in the months of cold weather ahead.

"Even if the walls and attic of your home are adequately insulated, you still may be losing energy through random cracks and through spaces around doors and windows. In fact, these often-overlooked areas can account for at least 38 percent of the heat loss from the typically insulated home.

"According to the Home Energy Saver's Workbook, published by the U.S. Federal Energy Administration in 1977, 'In a well-insulated house, the largest source of energy loss can be the air leaks around windows and doors and through other cracks.'"

"Amazing as that may seem, even more amazing is the fact that, of all areas in the home, these are among the simplest and the least costly to insulate effectively. Yet, too often, they simply are neglected.

"While other types of insulation may be expensive and may require a professional's expertise to install, the small cracks and spaces that can cause large energy losses can be sealed easily even by the most inexperienced do-it-yourselfer, thanks to Convenience Products' Touch 'n Foam, an all-purpose foam insulation and sealant that provides the most economical method of eliminating drafts, heat loss and air infiltration through cracks and openings in the home.

"Unlike caulking material and other sealants, Touch 'n Foam expands as it cures to fill uneven spaces and to create an effective barrier against energy loss.

"And, for the environmentally conscious person, Convenience Products now offers an ozone-safe Touch 'n Foam insulation.

"Because it will never shrink, dry, harden or pull away, Touch 'n Foam offers the homeowner excellent protection against air and moisture infiltration.

"And, Touch 'n Foam is extremely economical. One 12-ounce can is equivalent in sealing power to 25 tubes of conventional caulking material.

"Also, waste is minimized because Touch 'n Foam's unique dispenser delivers, at the touch of a fingertip, the correct amount of sealant for each area to be filled.

"Touch 'n Foam can be used to seal holes and cracks in walls, and to fill in around doors and windows, electrical outlets and openings for vents, antennas, electrical service connections and pipe feed-throughs.

Caulking can also help make your home more energy efficient

One quick, easy and inexpensive method for improving the energy efficiency of your home is to caulk and seal every possible leak. Those tiny cracks around the windows in the living room may seem inconsequential, but a 1/16-inch crack around a 20-by-40-inch window is like having a 3-by-3-inch hole in your wall.

"Caulking and sealing your home is one of the least expensive and most effective energy improvements you can make," said David Groene, product manager at DAP Inc., a leading caulk and sealant manufacturer. "One cartridge of caulk or sealant, which costs between $1 and $5, will seal around four average-size windows or three standard-size doors.

"And sealing around every door and window can save you up to 20 percent on your monthly heating bill."

"Checking your home

"Once you start looking around your house, you may be surprised at how much caulking and sealing it needs, inside and out. Examine every point at which air might enter your home, including around doors, windows, venting, pipes, electrical wires and even around outdoor light fixtures. Remember to seal inside and out.

"Look not only for places that haven't been sealed, but also for old caulks or sealants that have pulled away from the surfaces due to aging and drying.

"Other seams can crack down the middle while still others will become chalky.

"If you find cracks or bad seams, you'll need to remove the old caulk, clean the joint and re-seal."

Granite City schools reopen for new year was all smiles when she said none of her children shed a tear.

"I was surprised, but pleased," Tucker said. "I explained the procedures and we became acquainted. This will be a fun, educational year."

Davis said, "I didn't have anyone cry, as well. We got over the hurdle today. I'm confident tomorrow will run just as smoothly as today."

At Worthen Elementary School, Paula Stufflebean was one of about 50 parents who gathered next to the kindergarten classrooms.

She, along with the rest of the parents, were waiting patiently to pick up their children at the conclusion of their introductory classes, which lasted a little more than an hour.

Stufflebean said her 5-year-old son, Gary, was eager to attend kindergarten.

"He didn't want to get up this morning until I told him it was his first day of school," Stufflebean said. "He was really excited and didn't hesitate to get dressed. I can't wait to talk to him about his first day."

Debra Garland, principal of Worthen, said she and her staff were looking forward to the school year.

"We're pleased to be back," Garland said. "The children are excited, and so is the staff."

Coolidge Middle School principal Rick Talley said despite construction crews renovating different areas of the facility, classes resumed as scheduled and parents and children were polite and cooperative.

"Business was as usual by 8:15 a.m.," Talley said. "Some of the kids asked where their classes were, but we didn't have any major problems."

Classes also resumed Tuesday for students in the Madison School District, while students in the Venice School District had their first class sessions Monday morning.

River to Pontoon Beach."

Costello said one of the major issues he will deal with when Congress goes back into session after Labor Day is health-care reform.

"The No. 1 concern of people I have talked to is health care," Costello said. "They want to change the HMO system that we have today."

"Many, many people have experienced problems with going to the doctor or hospital and finding out that their HMO has denied coverage."

Costello said he is supporting a "Patients Bill of Rights" that would give doctors more power over health care than HMO bureaucrats.

It would also hold insurance companies and HMOs accountable for their actions. Most Republican-sponsored versions of health care and HMO reform lack that accountability.

"Right now, if you are denied coverage, you have no recourse," Costello said. "Under the bill I am supporting, you would have an independent board review the decision made by the HMO and you would also have the ability to file a lawsuit against the HMO, holding them accountable for their actions."

"I have found with multi-billion dollar corporations, the way you really get their attention is when it gets to the bottom line, profit and loss."

"If they know they are going to be held accountable, and it may cost them a lot of money based on the decisions they are making, they will be more careful to make the correct decisions."

Warriors face tough test

Granite City opens season Friday against Cahokia

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

For Granite City, victory in Friday's season-opening tilt at Cahokia depends on one simple plan: Stifle the Comanches' velocity or be overrun.

PREP FOOTBALL

"Coach (Nick) Petrillo has said that they will probably be quicker than us," Granite City quarterback Zack May said. "But we just have to be more fundamentally sound and not make mistakes on our cadence, trying to pull them off guard."

The offense will return to smash-mouth football and time management. "Their quickness is something that we have to deal with," Granite City offensive coordinator Daren DePew said. "I don't want to give a lot away, but there really aren't too many secrets. We would like to move the ball on the ground as much as possible and try to control the clock as much as we can to keep their offense off of the field."

"They have been a big-play team in the past, and from time to time they can score quickly. So we can use our offense as a defensive weapon if we can control the ball. We would like to sustain drives as much as possible, move the ball down

"Our premise has always been that in order to beat a team like Cahokia, you have to have possession of the football."

Nick Petrillo
Granite City coach

the field, chew up some clock, and use our offense in that manner."

While they hope to be the beneficiary of that ball control, the Warriors' defenders will have to do their part in halting the Comanches on the warpath.

"Cahokia always has speed, that is something that we have had to contend with ever since they have been on our schedule," Granite City defensive coordinator Ron Yates said. "I think the bottom line is that if we can contain their outside speed, we will probably play with them defensively. We have to keep the big plays down, keep them from knocking off the 30-, 40-, 50-yard run around the end or on one of their sweeps."

"So if we can contain them, keep them inside of us and make them grind the ball, make them go four or five yards at a time down the field, that increases the chances of their offense making a mistake. The more they have to grind it, there are always penalties that show up and things like that. The more time we make them take to score, the better off we are going to be. And the longer our offense is on the field, the better it is for our defense."

All coaches agree that the best defense is a ball-control offense. "Our premise has always been that in order to beat a team like Cahokia, you have to have possession of the football," Granite City head coach Nick Petrillo said. "If you have possession of the football, they have fewer chances to score. So I look for us to control the football, do things that we know we can do well, and keep the football ourselves for as many downs as we possibly can, and hopefully we will get a score out of it."

"Defensively, one of the biggest chores for us is going to be to contain them. They have just really good, athletic people down there with really good speed and quickness, good agility. If we can contain that, and keep from making assignment mistakes, I think we have a good opportunity to play a real good football game down there."

Last year's game was a 26-14 loss that

Quarterback May grows into leadership role

Zack May has spent a lot of time in preparation to lead the Granite City grid-built his readiness for the football season in the trenches. May manned the point for the Warriors basketball team this winter.

"With both sports, it's about leadership," May said. "It's basically the same thing. You have to show leadership and get everybody in the right spot for different plays and show them what to do. You have to get everybody focused and ready to play. You have to lead the offense and defense. If somebody didn't know what they were doing in basketball I would help them out, get people pumped up out there to play better. It also definitely helped keep me in shape."

"I think that helped him not only from the basketball court to football, but from football to the basketball court," Granite City football coach Nick Petrillo said. "Last year, he was our leader for nine straight games. The year before that, as a sophomore, he played the last three games for us and got a lot of respect from his fellow players. Here is a sophomore who came in against East St. Louis, Alton and Edwardsville and did a very commendable job."

"We see his confidence growing. Most of the coaches here at the high school feel that a young man should play at least two sports, as long as he is able to carry the academic load. They get in more diversified situations and get a chance to experience different kinds of stress that they have to handle and deal with. Zack doesn't back down from competition. As a matter of fact, I think he relishes it and thrives on it."

Last year's 3-6 campaign

Petrillo taking different approach with Warriors in '99

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

In this age of specialization, a football team needs plenty of diverse talent in the coaching ranks.

PREP FOOTBALL

Granite City head coach Nick Petrillo has assembled a familiar cast of characters who look to lead the Warriors in reaching their fullest potential.

Paramount to that leadership are

Blends own style with input from staff, other Metro East coaches offensive coordinator Daren DePew and defensive coordinator Ron Yates

"Daren DePew is just an excellent coach," Petrillo said. "He is a good motivator of young men and very knowledgeable about the game. I would say that right now we could call ourselves co-coordinators. I know the offense and the defense, and we have been together for three full years. This whole staff is going into its fourth year, and it's amazing how Daren will anticipate what I am going to say or want to do. By the same token, I do that with him."

"The same thing happens with Ron Yates. He brings a world of experience, he's a former head coach, and he knows just everything there is to know. Ron was the head coach when they had the good year here in 1982, beat East St. Louis. That was his ballclub. He is a great motivator of young men. He is a nuts-and-bolts kind of guy. He gets down and gets dirty with them. I think he is a real inspiration to a lot of these kids, and his knowledge is just second to none."

Petrillo likes how Yates infuses the club with his personality. "The defense takes on his character," Petrillo said. "He is a gritty, tough, hard-nosed, back-woodsman kind of guy. He would probably be just as comfortable in a log cabin or a tent as he is sitting in the basement of his house listening to a ballgame. He is just that type of a guy."

Comparative whippersnapper Tim Moran works with the offensive line and the interior of the defense.

"Tim Moran did some outstanding things this past year with our offensive linemen, working in the offensive line in the weight room, and then

Visiting the Hall

Tim Forneris, the Busch Stadium groundskeeper who retrieved St. Louis Cardinals Mark McGwire's 62nd home run ball and returned it to him last September, visited the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y., on Aug. 10 with his brother Tino, mother Rita and father Tony. The Forneris family is shown here, looking at the baseball which McGwire, in turn, donated to the Hall of Fame, along with all of his game equipment from Sept. 8, 1998. The display about the home run race of 1998 also pays tribute to the fans who caught and returned significant home run balls during the race last year.

Kahoks begin campaign against Bethalto again

Early victories vs. Civic Memorial have been good omen for Collinsville during last 2 years

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

The Collinsville High football team's season-opener Friday night against Bethalto Civic Memorial is just one game on the schedule, but the outcome might be an indication how many games the Kahoks will play this fall.

In two of the last three seasons, Collinsville has qualified for the IHSA playoffs and in those two years - 1996 and '98 - the Kahoks won the playoffs. In 1997, Collinsville lost to CM during a 3-6 campaign.

Collinsville, which hammered the Eagles 34-7 last season en route to an 8-2 mark, travels to Bethalto for a 7 p.m. contest Friday. Collinsville coach Tim Kane isn't superstitious about winning the opener, but he knows beating Civic Memorial can go a long way in building confidence.

"CM gives you a good test early," Kane said. "It lets you know what you're doing well and what you need to work on. Rick Reinhart does a nice job (as Civic Memorial's coach). It's a good match for Collinsville to play. It seems to be developing into a good rivalry."

"I think the kids are ready to play a game and tired of beating on one another," Kane expects the Eagles to be a passing team once again this year but Civic Memorial did graduate quarterback Nic Smith, who was 11 for 25 for 110 yards in last year's opener. Collinsville also will be concerned with CM running backs Dustin Devening (a 5-foot-10, 175-pound senior) and Josh Brokaw (5-10, 165, junior).

Last year, Devening rushed for 67 yards on 10 carries against the Kahoks while Brokaw carried eight times for 22 yards.

Coaches prepare Warriors for upcoming campaign working through the summer with them," Petrillo said. "He had a great program going for the kids, and we are seeing a lot of improvement in our overall strength."

"Tim has really grown as a coach. I think at first he was a little bit concerned about where he was, being the youngest guy on the staff. But he has grown with the years in terms of his knowledge with what he is doing with the game of football. He has really been an outstanding coach for us."
The varsity ranks are swollen this year with the addition of underclassmen getting to play with the big boys.
"We are trying something a little bit different this year," Petrillo said. "I talked to a number of coaches, and we are taking a little bit of the idea that Mike McGinnis had at Belleville East that he shared with me last winter. When you get some numbers out, how do you handle that? We haven't been blessed with big numbers, and this year we have pretty good-sized numbers for Granite City."

"So we are taking a blend, bringing (sophomore coach) Greg Land with our sophomores along with the varsity and working a junior- varsity group out of that. I think it's important that juniors get some playing time. With our low number of sophomores, this kind of fits into the bill. Our program is kind of a blend of a lot of my experiences and chances to talk to other coaches about what they do, too. You just find out what works for you."

May grows into leadership role for Granite City was a disappointment to the Warriors on-field general. "I thought we could have done better," May said. "I thought I could have played better, and I thought the rest of the team could have played better. I thought I could have thrown the ball a little better and made better calls on audibles, not thrown so many interceptions."

"We had a lot higher expectations than we showed. Our goal was to reach the playoffs, just like this year, and we didn't make it last year. I hope it works out this year and we play up to our capabilities."

Petrillo thinks the experience May gained last year will help him make adjustments.

"Considering that he was a junior last year, I thought he did an outstanding job," Petrillo said. "He had just a shade under 1,000 yards passing, and we weren't as loaded receiver-wise as we were maybe the year before. So that was quite an accomplishment. He completed around 54 percent of his passes, which was awfully, awfully good. He was just a leader. He is a competitor."

May lost several of his favorite targets to graduation.

"I think we'll miss the tight end, Mike Simpson, a lot," May said. "We had Jeremy Hunter at receiver and Brooks Narvaez at running back, and we'll miss them. They all brought their emotions to the games and really got people pumped up, got me pumped up. They would say something to me if I did something badly and get me back on track. They really helped me out. Plus they were really good players."

"They were good examples to the rest of the team and really showed a lot of leadership. I was just a junior and they were seniors, and they showed the leadership over me sometimes when I needed it."

The Warriors receiver corps has been rebuilt, and the coaches expect to complete plenty of throws downfield.

"We think we are going to be able to throw the football again this year," Petrillo said. "We have some kids that are not varsity proven yet, but there is certainly some potential out there where we can move the ball around to more than just (senior) Kevin Elliott. Kevin is going to be a main cog for us and an important part, but we think we have some other young kids where, if they come through the way we think they can, Zack will be able to throw to several targets, which will make it tougher on defenses."

"We have some running backs coming in who aren't really proven. They haven't had a lot of varsity experience, so we'll wait and see what they can do. But we think that they are going to help us."

Expectations for this year are high, and May's maturity as a quarterback is a large part of the confidence brewing in Warriors camp.

"I think Zack has the type of character and aura about him that he can get these younger kids to play at a higher level," Petrillo said. "I think he will challenge them in the huddle and help them be better ballplayers."

May already likes what he sees. "We should be able to make some noise in the conference," May said. "These new guys, the juniors, went undefeated for two years, so they don't know what it's like to lose. They are really helping out in practice, coming out really confident and thinking that we can win. I think that's good. I don't want to lose, and they are really confident this year, and so am I. The way we look in practice and in scrimmages, I think we should make some noise."

Kahoks face Civic Memorial again in season opener are both pretty quick," Kane said. "Devening is pretty quick with good leg drive. He can catch the ball. If he gets to the outside, he can be pretty shifty."

Defensively, Civic Memorial is led by senior defensive lineman Kory Bohmstedt.

For the second straight season, Collinsville should put a strong rushing attack on the field. Senior running back Eric Stewart returns after rushing for 975 yards last season, including 91 on 15 carries against the Eagles. Stewart will be complemented by junior Josh Miller, who led the sophomore team in rushing last year.

Eric Stewart has had as good of off-season as anybody," Kane said. "He seems focused and hungry. He is one of the seniors stepping up to be in the leadership role. He has put in a whole lot of time preparing for his senior season."

Josh Miller will step in at tailback. He's a quick kid. He needs some game time to understand the quickness of the game and to understand the mental aspect. Nick Ditzler is also pretty quick. He's come on in the summer and does a nice job."

Another weapon for the Kahoks is quarterback Derek

"CM gives you a good test early. It lets you know what you're doing well and what you need to work on."

Tim Kane
Collinsville coach

LeMaster, who will start his second season at the position although he threw fewer passes all year than CM threw in the opener last year.

"I looked at the rulebook and found out the forward pass is legal," Kane joked.

Derek's arm is so much stronger," he said. "He's throwing the ball with a tight spiral. We had our Purple and White game and it was nice to see him more relaxed in the pocket. His arm is just so much stronger."

Collinsville's defense is led by senior linebacker Gary Wilson, who led the team in tackles last year while spearheading a defense that allowed fewer than 10 points per game through the regular season.

slipped away from the Warriors.

"They intercepted a pass down in the very last part of the game when we were desperate, trying to get downfield and score so we could get an inside kick," Petrillo said.

"The kid made a nice interception and went the distance, making the score look a little bit tougher than the game actually was."

"We felt that last year we had a ballbuck that could play with them. Our problem was that we were not quite physically or mentally ready to play that football game. We played very, very well for two quarters, and then all of a sudden, we ran out of gas. They were out of gas too, but they had a little more stamina and could go just a little bit longer than we could, and that made the difference."

This first game could serve as a harbinger of things to come as autumn progresses. "I think this ballgame is a real important springboard to the season," Petrillo said. "I think if you win this ballgame, you have to think that you have an opportunity to do some good things during the season."

"By the same token, if you walk out a loser, and you lost the game because of one simple error, or they did something a little bit better than you did and the game was close, I think you still have to have your head up and think that you got an opportunity. If you get blown out, I think you have to regroup, build your confidence back, and see what you are doing and see if there is any little changes you have to do. Even if you lose the ballgame, it is not a detriment to the whole season. It just makes things a little bit tougher."

FROM LAST WEEK

WINSTON CUP SERIES
 Bobby Labonte outduelled Jeff Gordon, Tony Stewart, Dale Jarrett and Dale Earnhardt to win for the fourth time this season and third time at Michigan, his favorite track. Jarrett's fourth-place finish enabled him to boost his point lead, now 314, for the 10th race in a row.

BUSCH GRAND NATIONAL
 Dale Earnhardt Jr. won for the fifth time in Michigan's NAPA

200, and this one will go down in the history books for the driver he managed to outrun: Jeff Gordon, making a rare BGN appearance in his Pepsi-sponsored Monte Carlo.

CRAFTSMAN TRUCK SERIES
 Can Greg Biffle be stopped? Apparently not. Gateway International Raceway in Madison, Ill. (near St. Louis) was the scene of the Ford driver's latest conquest.

FEUD OF THE WEEK

Tony Stewart vs. Jeff Burton

Stewart, making one of his trademark charges to the front, bumped Burton after Burton's Ford "came down" on Stewart's Pontiac. The resulting crash did not prevent Stewart from finishing third, but it was costly to Burton's fading championship hopes.

NASCAR This Week's Monte Dutton gives his opinion: "Owing to the fact that Stewart and Burton have immense respect for one another, cooler heads prevailed after the race when both drivers accepted a share of the blame for the incident. NASCAR deserves some credit for cooling both drivers down, since the governing body called both drivers in for some post-race analysis of what happened."

FROM THE ARCHIVES

■ When Kyle Petty won the Winston Cup race at Watkins Glen in 1992, little did he or anyone else know that it would be, to this point, the last victory by a Pontiac driver on the 2.45-mile, 11-turn road course. For the next four, three by Mark Martin, and the three races since have been won by Jeff Gordon in a Chevrolet.

PROFILE

Kyle Petty

By Monte Dutton
 NASCAR This Week

The late 1990s have not been particularly kind to Kyle Petty, the third-generation driver whose father is NASCAR's all-time winningest.

The Pettrys bridge the entire history of NASCAR. Lee Petty, Kyle's grandfather, competed in the very first race and was a three-time champion. Richard Petty, Kyle's father, won 200 races and seven championships, the latter mark equaled only by Dale Earnhardt. The family will not stop at Kyle. His son Adam is a regular in the Busch Grand National series.

AGE: 39
HOMETOWN: Born and raised in Randleman, N.C., lives in High Point, N.C.

WIFE: Patti
CHILDREN: Adam (19), Austin (17), Montgomery Lee (13)
CAR: No. 44 Hot Wheels Pontiac Grand Prix, owned by Petty Enterprises

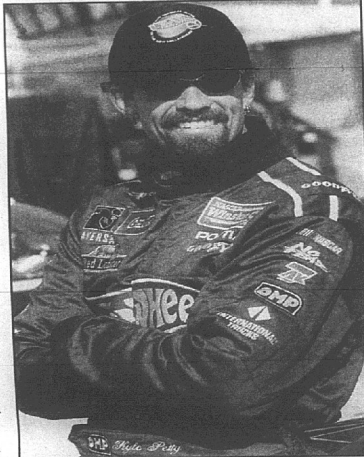

RECORD: 553 starts, 8 poles, 8 wins, 51 top-five finishes, 163 top-10s, more than $11 million in career earnings

FIRSTS: Start (Aug. 5, 1979, at Talladega), pole (March 2, 1990, at Rockingham), win (Feb. 23, 1986, at Richmond)

WHY DO YOU THINK YOU ARE ONE OF ONLY NINE ACTIVE DRIVERS WHO HAS WON ON A ROAD COURSE? "I don't know what it is about road courses. Some drivers start getting that glassy look in their eyes, kind of like, 'Oh, no, this is a good couple of weeks and here we go again.' Some people just don't like road courses, plain and simple."

"The way Jeff Gordon's been going lately, it doesn't look like there's much chance for anybody (else) to win on one. He likes the road courses. Anybody who has the record he has the past couple of years ought to like road courses."

WHAT KIND OF EFFECT DOES YOUR ATTITUDE HAVE ON YOUR ABILITY TO DO WELL AT A PARTICULAR TRACK? "You either like it or you don't. It's just like short tracks or big speedways or certain race tracks or whatever. That's like me going to Darlington. I hate the place. I'd rather take a beating than go there, and I can't learn to love the place no matter how hard I try. ... You can't be good at a place you hate."

Kyle Petty has won eight times in 553 starts.

DO YOU THINK YOUR ATTITUDE IS DIFFERENT FROM MOST OTHER DRIVERS? "I know it is. When I came along, I think something went wrong. My son (Adam) has the magic touch that skipped my generation. I hate Rockingham and like the road courses. What kind of attitude is that for a Petty to have? To me, road courses are fun, and I still like to have fun."

Trackside Trivia

- Who is the only NASCAR driver ever to win four consecutive races after starting on the pole in all four?
- What noted road racer won five NASCAR races at Riverside, Calif.?
- Who is the chief operating officer of NASCAR?

ANSWERS
 1. Darrell Waltrip; 2. Dan Gurney; 3. Mike Helton

Irvan crashes on anniversary of bad accident

By Monte Dutton
 NASCAR This Week

BROOKLYN, Mich. — Five years to the hour ... Ernie Irvan was airlifted by helicopter to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ypsilanti, Mich., after crashing Friday during practice in a Busch Grand National car. On Aug. 20, 1994, Irvan was nearly killed in a Winston Cup crash, also at around 10 a.m., that necessitated more than a year of recovery before he resumed his career.

The 1994 crash was on a Saturday; this one was on a Friday. The earlier crash occurred in Michigan Speedway's turn two; this one was in turn four.

Thankfully, Irvan's condition was not as serious. Although he was knocked unconscious on impact, he regained "responsiveness" (doctor's words) on the way to the hospital. His condition was first listed as stable, then later upgraded to fair and alert, and then to good.

Irvan spent Friday, Saturday and Sunday night at the hospital for observation. His condition was upgraded to good on Saturday, and the hospitalization was described as precautionary.

Whether or not Irvan would be able to drive in this week-end's race at Bristol was unknown at press time.

FORT TO FIELD CUP TEAM:

Indianapolis 500-winning car owner A.J. Foyt will apparently move into the Winston Cup Series next year with a four-year agreement to race Ford Tauruses.

YATES, WELLS TO COOPERATE:

An informal agreement exists between Robert Yates and Cal Wells as both attempt to hire drivers for their respective race teams.

The car owners have agreed not to get in a bidding war for a driver's services, and part of the deal is that Yates gets first shot. Yates will also provide engines for the Fords to be fielded by Wells next year. Wally Dallenbach Jr. was scheduled to meet Monday with Tide officials concerning the Wells ride.

CREW OF THE WEEK

■ The secret to victory in the Pepsi 400 was having a car that was at its best at the end of the race. Jimmy Malar and the Joe Gibbs Racing Interstate Batteries team gave driver Bobby Labonte just that, and Labonte was able to pull away at the end of one of the season's more memorable races.

Your Turn

Letters From Our Readers

Dear NASCAR This Week, What does having or not having hair have to do with your ability to drive a race car? (I'm referring to Earnhardt Jr.'s and Chad Little's remarks concerning the Bodine brothers.)

Wesley White
 Statesville, N.C.

Nothing. Absolutely nothing.

Dear NASCAR This Week, Please explain why Winston Cup cars go to all the expense for special engines and setups to qualify, and once qualifying is over, they prepare their cars with their race setups. Why not use the same setup for qualifying that will be used on race day?

Joseph M. Smith
 Kinston, N.C.

In general, a car is set up differently for qualifying simply because it is alone on the track and does not have to handle in traffic. For race day, the car must be more maneuverable and stable. NASCAR is considering a rule change that would force teams to use the same engine for both qualifying and race day.

Dear NASCAR This Week, I have taken a poll of several fans ... and all agree that no one should be able to win under caution. Has it always been this way?

William G. Reiff
 Hernando, Fla.

Yes, it has always been this way, and almost all the drivers, car owners and crew chiefs want it to stay this way. Our letters indicate that most fans disagree.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 26
TODAY'S BIRTHDAY:
 Although an arrangement might be foisted upon you by chance in the year ahead, the possibility is that you will end up forming a very fruitful alliance with this person. Both parties will benefit.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
 There are always moments when things can get a trifle difficult over who accommodates who in dealings with your mate. However, if some type of compromise isn't made, the situation could get worse.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
 Although you might be confronted with duties at work today, that are far more difficult to perform than usual, there will also be greater compensation than usual for work well done.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
 It might be wise today to forego large gatherings, even if you're in a sociable mood. They'll eventually get on your nerves, while small groups of pals could make you feel at ease.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
 You'll only be asking for defeat if you impulsively allow yourself to get into a mismatched competitive involvement where the other guy has the edge. Why take on a no-win arrangement?

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
 Try to select companions today who do not take themselves or life too seriously. Being around people who are ego-oriented could become down right uncomfortable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
 The loss column could be waiting for you if you don't handle your resources carefully today. If financial trends appear a trifle uncertain, don't get involved in any lopsided joint ventures.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
 A presumptuous companion might take it upon him or herself to make a critical decision for you today if you appear the least bit uncertain. Maintain control.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
 There isn't any reason why you can't achieve your financial aims today, but it won't be worth it if you swap your principles for profit. Don't forsake your high standards.

Jean-Claude Van Damme in a scene from Universal Soldier: The Return

UNIVERSAL SOLDIER: THE RETURN continues the story of Luc Deveraux (Jean-Claude Van Damme), who has survived his experiences as a Universal Soldier, recovered, and is now working as a technical expert on a government project to revive and improve the Universal Soldier training program. When S.E.T.H. (Michael Jai White), the supercomputer controlling the Soldiers, goes haywire and takes over, Luc is the only one who can battle this elite team of deadly, near-perfect warriors.

UNIVERSAL SOLDIER: THE RETURN is a Columbia Pictures release

Katie Holmes, "Dawson's Creek" star growing up, reluctantly

Katie Holmes is growing up, whether she likes it or not. She still plays a teen-ager on TV, but Holmes is no longer one in real life. She put college on hold to relive the joys and heartaches of high school on the WB network's "Dawson's Creek," but finds herself back at the crossroads between adolescence and adulthood in art and life as Joey, Dawson and the gang enter their senior year, and her real world begins changing dramatically, too.

She's "a big girl now," as she puts it, but is the first to admit feeling torn between two worlds.

"I'm still having fun playing a teenager, and I'm still having fun being that little kid, and continuing to kind of embrace my youth," the 20-year-old actress says, sprawled across a couch in her Manhattan hotel suite. "Parts of me do want to be that 25-year-old who is in complete control and, you know, ready to conquer the world and there's the other part that still wants to be that demure little 16-year-old, that is still protected. I don't know, is that normal?"

Complicating any hopes for an easy adjustment into the adult world is her thriving film career. She co-stars opposite Helen Mirren in the new movie "Teaching Mrs. Tingle," and opposite Michael Douglas in the recently completed "Wonder Boys."

In an interview, Holmes reveals the central contradiction that surfaces continually in her film and TV work, seeming at once unattainable and the quintessential girl next door, a wholesome daughter of the Midwest who can't help her undeniably savvy sex appeal. She displays the same disarming blend of pixie-like innocence, brains and guile that makes high school boys weak-kneed and melts the hearts of casting agents.

Green eyes sparkling behind wisps of hair that fall into her face as she talks, Holmes at first tries to lounge casually, leaning back and speaking in slow, mature tones, but soon she speeds up and bounces forward, sitting up to talk with her hands, gesturing broadly to emphasize the point she's making: that even her seemingly charmed life isn't always easy.

What's been toughest for Holmes is how easy her leap to stardom was, an unknown Catholic schoolgirl from Toledo, landing a movie role ("The Ice Storm") in her first Hollywood audition, then starring in a teen TV hit right out of high school.

"I did struggle for a while with the knowledge and the guilt," Holmes said. "You know, why did this happen for me? Why didn't I struggle for five years? Is this in any way indicative of a long career, or is this just a short thing? What is THIS? What does this all MEAN?"

Entering its third season, "Dawson's Creek" will continue without creator Kevin Williamson, the writer of such horror films as "Scream" and "I Know What You Did Last Summer," who leaves popcorn hack-and-slash behind in "Teaching Mrs. Tingle," his directorial debut.

His departure - to focus on his new TV project, "Wasteland" - makes some wonder how long "Dawson's Creek" can survive without him, especially as its rising young stars (Holmes, James Van DerBeek, Michelle Williams) get more movie roles.

"I want to take it slowly and learn as much about it as I can, and really take the time to grow up, and take the time to challenge myself with different roles at the times when I am ready," she said. "I also really want to go to college ... I don't know, obviously, the time frame. It all depends on what's going on with "Dawson's Creek" and where my career is headed after that, if anywhere."

Margot Kidder called on her "fellow nuts" to take control of their treatment for mental illness.

The actress said recently at a mental health conference in Vancouver, British Columbia, that she uses herbs and alternative treatments to control her manic depression.

"I was able to do it, and I was really out of it, as most of you saw on the news," she said.

She lambasted the use of drug treatments as a pharmacological lobotomy.

Three years ago, Kidder made headlines when she was discovered in a delusional state in a Los Angeles neighborhood. Pictures of a disheveled and confused Kidder were broadcast around the world.

"All those National Enquirer reporters, I didn't ask them to come. I didn't want them along for the ride," said Kidder, who played Lois Lane in the "Superman" movies.

sations of a 13-year-old boy.

An arbitrator entered a judgment in favor of Jackson on July 26. News of the judgment was published recently in the Santa Barbara News-Press.

Molestation allegations against Jackson were investigated by authorities in Santa Barbara and Los Angeles counties, but Jackson was not charged with any crime.

In 1994, Jackson reached an out-of-court settlement in a molestation lawsuit stemming from his friendship with the boy.

The boy's father filed a follow-up lawsuit in 1996, claiming Jackson, by calling the allegation "lies, lies, lies, lies" in an interview, harmed the reputations of the father and son.

The settlement agreement called for binding arbitration of any disputes, said an attorney for Jackson, Steve Cochran.

A second family, kept secret for more than a decade by billionaire Gordon P. Getty, is negotiating for inheritance rights.

Getty, a philanthropist, composer and heir to his father's oil fortune, has confirmed that he fathered three daughters in Los Angeles, the San Jose Mercury News reports.

"Nicolette, Kendalle and Alexandra are my children. Their mother, Cynthia Beck, and I love them very much. The most import concern is that the children's needs be addressed. ... This will be our first priority," Getty said in a statement.

"The Getty family has been fully supportive throughout this situation, and for that I am very grateful," he said.

The newspaper didn't specify the amount sought. Getty was sailing in Europe, and could not be reached for comment.

The Mercury News reported that a source close to the family said Getty's wife of more than three decades, Ann, is not considering divorce. His wife and their four children learned only recently about the other family.

Tom Cruise and Nicole Kidman are lending their names to a campaign to help pay for a full-time troupe for a small Scottish theater.

The artistic director of the Dundee Repertory Theater is Hamish Glen, the brother of Iain Glen, Kidman's co-star last year in the London and New York theatrical productions of "The Blue Room."

"Hamish got on very well with Nicole and Tom, and he decided to write to them to see if they'd help out," Nicola Young, a spokeswoman for the theater, said.

Helen Mirren and Katie Holmes in a scene from the Dimension Films release, "Teaching Mrs. Tingle."

'Teaching Mrs. Tingle' stands out

A well-done adult character makes 'Mrs. Tingle' work

Curious thing about "Teaching Mrs. Tingle," the new high-school squirm-and-jump movie: It actually features a three-dimensional adult character—someone who stands out amid the jump cuts, product placements and lithe bodies of post-'90210" America.

This someone is the abundantly talented Helen Mirren. She plays the title character in a movie that, in a world after Columbine, could have been simply distasteful and exploitative, but ends up being thought-provoking and compellingly blackhearted. "Teaching Mrs. Tingle" is a dark-side-of-suburbia morality play as engrossing as a good highway accident scene.

Eve Tingle is a thoroughly unpleasant history teacher at Grandsboro High who repels colleagues, terrifies the principal and belittles students to tears. Nothing's good enough for this woman and her barely repressed rage; she's the teacher from hell.

Chaste but pulchritudinous good girl Leigh Ann Watson (Katie Holmes of "Go" and TV's "Dawson's Creek") is inches away from being valedictorian, which would give her the college scholarship her waitress mother never had and allow her to pursue her dream: being a writer. As graduation approaches, one thing stands between Leigh Ann and her future: Mrs. Tingle.

So when Mrs. Tingle wrongly accuses Leigh Ann of cheating, she, best friend Jo Lynn and Luke, the classmate responsible for the mess, go to the teacher's (gated and turreted!) house at night to plead their case. But things fall apart, and within minutes Mrs. Tingle is unconscious and they've tied her to her bed.

What unfolds from there is a psychological chess match between the seniors and their teacher. Physically, they're in command; mentally, Mrs. Tingle is running the show. "Things are just starting to get fun," she spits.

For Leigh Ann and Jo Lynn, it's a moral decision: They CAN kill. But will they?

Mirren is deliciously prickly as Mrs. Tingle, whose callous, malevolent exterior may or may not hide a deep pain that made her sour. The restraint of Kevin Williamson's script prevents her from becoming a broad-brush parody, as is the fate of so many adults in "Scream" and "I Know What You Did Last Summer"—also written by Williamson, who's making his directorial debut with this film. "Tingle" was his first screenplay, written years ago and "inspired" by a real-life experience with a harsh teacher.

The fresh-faced Holmes has perfected her maiden-with-an-edge persona and carries it off well, but it may be time for her to move on; she can only be drenched and bewildered so many times before it gets old.

When did that happen? Famous date trivia

By Kevin Carbery
Staff writer

There are dates in history that are immortalized due to specific events.

On Nov. 22, 1963, President John Kennedy was shot and killed in Dallas. People cite this as a benchmark in their lives. As I was 1 year old, I have no memory of the day, though, of course, later learned of its great impact.

Another special date in time is July 30, 1969, when Neil Armstrong became the first man to walk on the moon. I was 7 and sort of remember watching the events on television. However, I was not all that concerned about it. I'm sure I would have been mad if the coverage of the moon landing bumped a Cardinal game off TV.

The thing about famous events is it is easy to lose track of how long ago something happened. Most people can recall the Challenger space shuttle explosion. But how many know that it happened on Jan. 28, 1986? It is hard to believe that tragedy occurred 13 years ago.

Similarly, it does not seem that long ago that Johnny Carson retired after 30 years on "The Tonight Show." It turns out that his last night as host of the program was May 22, 1992. I remember watching it, but it seems like it only happened about three or four years ago.

In some cases, an entire year is linked to an event. If you hear 1492, you recall that Columbus sailed the ocean

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
If there is someone you don't like who is part of a group you do like, be careful not to show impatience with this adversary's antics when in their company today. Maintain a class act.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Even if you feel you are right over a disagreement with an authority figure today, back off a pace or two. Everything will turn out fine if you don't try to fight city hall.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
You can expect an unpleasant response today if you try to impose your methods or opinions on friends. Nobody every wins points by being a know-it-all.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Any deal is likely to collapse when there is an absence of parity, so if you get involved in a collective endeavor today, make certain there's an equality of input by all.

'Teaching Mrs. Tingle'

A most pleasant surprise is Marisa Coughlan as Jo Lynn, an aspiring actress who struggles to be comfortable with her identity and is led into shattered confidence by Mrs. Tingle's mind games. The scene in which Jo Lynn re-creates Linda Blair's demonic possession in "The Exorcist" before a bound-and-gagged Mrs. Tingle is utterly hilarious.

Fine supporting characters help "Teaching Mrs. Tingle" along. Jeffrey Tambor is his usual welcome self as the slightly addled Coach Wenchell. Michael McKean is the appropriately administrative Principal Potter. And the most pleasant surprise of all? Grown up brat-packer Molly Ringwald as a substitute teacher with a decidedly sexual approach to French history.

Competent, though less memorable, is male love interest Luke Churner (Barry Watson of TV's "7th Heaven"), this movie's Skeet Ulrich/Freddie Prinze Jr.

The problems with "Teaching Mrs. Tingle" come toward the end. Sometimes Mrs. Tingle borders on sympathetic, and those are the most captivating moments. But at the conclusion, as her ambiguity melts away and she becomes a cliché - proving once again to the ticket-buying audience that adults are cardboard characters in their universe - the character collapses.

Simultaneously, the Prerequisite Portentous Camerawork so liberally deployed in "Scream" and "I Know What You Did Last Summer" kicks in with all its rear views and quasi-Hitchcockian tilts.

Still, this film transcends the teen-exploitation genre - and with a few tweaks, it could have been far better.

"Teaching Mrs. Tingle," a Dimension Films release, is rated PG-13.
